A Heathen Stabbing Bee.

A dispatch from Park City on Tuesday read: "Two Chinamen had a fight in Chinatown, one being stabbed and the other shot dead. The Chinaman who was stabbed died to-day." On Tuesday morning Officer Wm. Calder arrested a Chinaman, at the depot—who had just arrived from Park City—named Lee Dick, doubtless an abbreviation for Lee Richard. He was charged with killing Louis Bow, a brother heathen. It is said that Bow was assaulted by several heathens on Saturday last—Dick among them—and that in self-defense Bow stabbed one of his assailants, upon which Dick shot him, which has since resulted in Bow's death. Dick says he hadn't anything to do with it, but that the fight was between Bow and another man only, and that Bow stabbed the other fellow, who shot Bow in return, inflicting a fatal wound. Lee Dick was taken before Commissioner Pearson, on a charge of murder. His hearing before the commissioner was set to come off at 2 p.m. next Saturday.

Salt Lake Theatre.

Another very good sized audience assembled last night to witness the second appearance at the Theatre of Mitchell's Pleasure Party in "Our Goblins." The many absurdities, ludicrous acts and the admirable music in the piece were repeated with the same effect as on the first night. The marked ability of the actors is clearly shown in the great success they make out of almost nothing. This evening the company appears for the last time in "My Brudder." This piece is said to partake more of the nature of the legitimate comedy than "Our Goblins," and that there is more music in it. It is also highly amusing, and is sure to be well received when given by such superior actors and fine vocalists.

CITY COUNCIL.

Proceedings at the City Council, on Tuesday evening, June 6th, 1882, Mayor Jennings presiding:

Cunnington & Co. petitioned to be allowed to erect a powder magazine on the ground set apart for the purpose north of the Hot Springs. Granted, subject to the same restrictions regarding location as the petition of the Vigor Powder Company was granted under, viz.: that the magazine be erected east of the first bluff above the road leading into this city from the north.

Byron E. Hartwell petitioned for the right to purchase lot one in block fifty-nine, plat D, Salt Lake City survey, which he believed was owned by the city. Referred to the committee on public grounds.

Wm. Husbands petitioned to use a portion of the street and sidewalk in front of his premises on Second West between Second and Third South streets for a period of sixty days, whereon to place material for building. Granted under the usual restrictions.

A petition was presented from Dr. Peter Clinton, asking an increase in the amount allowed him by contract for furnishing medicines and personally attending to the health of city prisoners. Referred to the committee on city prison.

A petition from Dr. J. M. Benedict in behalf of the hospital of the Holy Cross was presented asking permission to lay a two inch pipe from a certain tank which they had obtained permission to locate on the military reservation of Fort Douglas to the middle of the hospital block. The petitioners desired immediate action in the matter as the building was now ready for occupancy and only awaiting the procuring of a water supply.

The petition was received and permission to lay the necessary pipes in the streets granted under the direction of the supervisor of streets.

Two petitions were submitted, signed by residents of the southwestern portion of the city, asking that the water mains be extended along certain designated streets to the Denver and Rio Grande Western depot, corner of Third South and Sixth West streets, and offering, in the event of favorable action by the Council, to advance the sums set opposite their respective names, with the understanding that the same be refunded in water rates, as they accrue. The total amount subscribed in the petition of W. L. Pickard and others, was $916; in the petition of P. H. Lannan and others, $890.

A communication from Henry Wood, superintendent of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railway Company was also presented, in which he stated that the company would provide the means required to make up three-fourths of the entire expense to be entailed in said extension on whichever route the Council might decide upon. The company also agreed, if necessary, to indemnify the city against any claim for damages which might arise by virtue of the grant to the use of water for said company.

In consideration of the legal points involved in the granting of these petitions and the former one of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railway Company, which points were referred at the last meeting of the Council to the city attorney to investigate and give his opinion upon, it was moved and carried that the petitions of the parties and the communication of the superintendent, etc., be laid upon the table to be taken up in their order after the report of the attorney shall have been submitted.

Applications for the renewal of liquor licenses were presented from Jacob Alt, Barr & McTierny, Barnhardt & Stahl, Burgess & Harvey, Mrs. J. W. Butler, Clabsey & Hogle, W. S. Clays, G. S. Erb, John Erickson, N. P. Gray, Godbe, Pitts & Co., Hill & Trewhella, Jacob Levisberg, John Lollin, May & Gemmill, Marion Merrill, B. F. Whittemore, Z. C. M. L. Russell & Company, and Henry Wagner. The recorder stated that only about six of the applicants enumerated had filed their bonds as required by law but believed it was the intention of the remainder to do so as early as convenient. The applications were received and the licenses asked for granted subject to compliance with the law in relation to the filing of bonds.

The city attorney stated that a number of the liquor dealers of the city had asked him if some method might not be devised by ordinance or otherwise to make the bonds filed by them good for one year. They stated that it was a great inconvenience both to themselves and the parties giving them security to be obliged to leave their respective places of business every three months to appear before the recorder, as the law directs, and suggested that the fewer times they would be obliged to do so, the better it would be for all concerned. The attorney stated that he had informed the gentleman who spoke to him that he knew of no remedy to meet their desires short of an amendment to the ordinance, but promised to bring the matter to the attention of the Council. No action was taken by the Council upon the subject, it appearing to be the general opinion that it would require a legislative enactment to correct the ordinance as requested.

A verbal petition was presented by George Goddard, who stated that he was one of a committee having in hand the details of an excursion of old folks above the age of 70 years from the cities and towns north and south to this city, arrangements for which were in progress, and designed to be had on the 29th inst. Mr. Goddard had been connected with the management of old folks excursions for a number of years, and could testify that they had always been received with great hospitality and deference by the municipal authorities wherever they had journeyed. Upon this occasion it was desired to make Liberty Park their gathering place and to spend the day there in picnicking and regaling themselves in pleasant pastimes. To this end Mr. Goddard asked the use of the Park on that occasion. Referred to the committee on public grounds.

The committee on streets and alleys, to whom was referred the petition of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railway Company, asking permission to lay a track along Sixth West street to their gravel bed at the northern limit of the city, and also the petition of Joseph Pollard and other citizens remonstrating against the granting of the former petition, submitted a report recommending that the petition of said railway company be granted under certain provisions—mainly the compliance with all ordinances relating to the construction and operation of railroads in city limits. The report drew out a lengthy discussion, in which nearly every member present participated. Mr. Pollard, being present, by permission spoke upon the subject and strongly protested against the railroad being allowed to run on Sixth West street. The report was finally referred back to the committee for further consideration.

Adjourned for one week.

The Opera House.

The second of the Careless Orchestra concerts was given at the Walker Opera House, to an audience, which, while not so large as that which gathered on the first evening, was none the less appreciative. Artistically, these two concerts are the finest ever given by the Careless Orchestra. The programme, last night, was just a proper length, but it is rather annoying for persons who go at 8 o'clock—the time advertised for the commencement—to have forty minutes before the curtain is raised. The programme last night consisted of ten excellent and well selected numbers. The orchestra showed manifest improvement in the five numbers by it. "William Tell," of all, was perhaps rendered with greatest effect, and received with most favor. It was a masterpiece, and the duet between the flute and clarinet was one of the finest things of the kind ever heard in the city. Mark Croxall has never done better than in his cornet solo, nor made a better selection than Schubert's thrilling, weird and fascinating "Serenade." The quartette "Woodbird," by Messdames Ashley and Sherman, and Messrs. Hopkins and Gorkinski, earned a well merited encore, which was loudly applauded. Mr. Gorkinski did not give the baritone solo from "Borgia," as well as he has done, though it was loudly encored, and deserved it, but he acquitted himself more than creditably in "Sunshine," the delightful and moving song given as an encore. Of course, Mrs. Careless' song was the event of the evening. Her name is sufficient to draw a large audience, and in the song "Returns," she thrilled everybody. For an encore she gave the sweet, and beautiful ballad "Robin Adair," as only Mrs. Careless can give it. The conclusion by Mark Croxall's Silver Band was immense.

Artistically the concerts were marked successes, and have added fresh laurels to those already won by the Careless Orchestra.

More Burglars Bagged.

On Tuesday morning Sheriff Allison, of Summit County, arrived in this city, with two persons named Bob Wilson and Wm. Breen, parties he arrested on Monday. They are charged with being accomplices of Johnson, the fellow arrested last Friday, while taking a valise containing burglars' tools from the express office. It appears that on Sunday night last, two men went into Coalville and asked to see a paper there. Being unable to get it at the house first inquired at, they went to another. The parties lending the paper watched them, and saw they were reading in a very interesting manner, the article relating to the capture of Johnson, with the burglars' tools. They informed Sheriff Allison and he arrested them. Wilson said he knew what was wanted, but they could do nothing to him as he was only with Johnson, and had nothing to do with the tools. The volunteer remark thus made convinced Allison that he had the right men. He put them in the jail in separate cells, and placed a man to listen. When they supposed they were alone, Breen said, "We're gone up." Wilson said, "You're all right; but they'll fix me, because I called for the valise." "But," said Breen, "they will send me up for being with Johnson when he went for the valise."

This conversation will go a long way towards committing these men, and may be a help in unraveling the burglary mystery. They will have an examination on Saturday, when Johnson's case comes up.

A New Road.

Last winter, during the session of the Legislature, an appropriation was made to Uintah and Wasatch Counties, of $750 each, the amount being given to assist in opening a main road between Heber City and Fort Thornburg. Hon. Abram Hatch, now in from Wasatch County, states that the road is open. The money has been expended in putting in two good bridges over the Duchane River, one being at Lake Fork. On the 1st of July a tri-weekly mail will be started between Heber City and Fort Thornburg, and will be maintained. The road is now open for general use, pleasure purposes and the like, free of toll. The work has been done rapidly and well.

Spanish Fork.

One of the most prosperous and pretty places in Utah County is Spanish Fork, a delightful little city on the banks of the Spanish Fork River. One gains but a faint idea of the settlement from passing on the train. The town covers a considerable area of country, and the surrounding territory is under a high state of cultivation, the prospect from the plateau above the place being charming in the extreme. Not only in appearance is Spanish Fork interesting, for it is prosperous, thrifty and productive as well. Last season the people of the burg harvested 130,000 bushels of grain, and gathered 40,000 pounds of honey, these being the chief products. The grain prospect this season is excellent, though the harvest will be late, as elsewhere in Utah. The Co-operative Institution (Mr. R. P. Snell, superintendent) is in a flourishing condition and doing a satisfactory business, the sales for the past six months amounting to $40,000. The institution embraces, besides general merchandise, a boot and shoe factory, harness and furniture shops, and a grist mill. Trade is so prosperous with the concern that it finds it necessary to enlarge, and as a consequence is now completing a two-story building sixty-five by thirty-three feet, for a mercantile department. The cost of the new store will be between $7,000 and $8,000.

The writer thought, on the occasion of his first visit to Spanish Fork, recently, that he would find himself a comparative stranger, but on the contrary met scores of old friends, some of whom he knew in the days of auld lang syne—forty years ago; and their hearty welcome and kind treatment he can never forget.

Daring Attempt at Robbers.

About a quarter to 2 o'clock this morning, a nightwatchman Geo. Hilton discovered a man trying to get into Smith's Saloon on First South street. He saw the fellow breaking in the transom, and try to get something with which to burst the room bars inside. Hilton immediately went for help and when he returned found that the thief failing in his attempt to gain access into Smith's place, had started in to go through Newman & Reed's. The nightwatchman then started for the man, who, taking fright, bolted into an outhouse. Here Hilton held him until the arrival of the police, who had to break the door before they could get him out. His name is unknown.
